1. Soviet authorities are maintaining three concentration camps in the vicinity of Wiener Neustadt, Austria, for the internment of political refugees from the eastern satellite states. Maintenance and treatment of inmates are of a low order.
2. Internment Camp No. 150 contains approximately 400 prisoners and is commanded by Lieutenant Josef Malinovsky, a 32-year old Soviet artillery officer. One of the activities carried on at this camp is the making of propaganda films. Major Ivan Stefanovsky is in charge of this work, about which no further details are available.
3. Camp No. 150 contains a Russian "agent provocateur" who has been at the camp over two years. He circulates among the prisoners and coaxes them to express their anti-Soviet sentiments; those who fall for his bait are immediately deported to the U.S.R. He frequently leaves the camp and proceeds to Vienna, where he loiters at the stations and in cafes in search of political refugees from Eastern Europe.
4. Internment Camp No. 220 contains approximately 700 prisoners, and is commanded by Major Choma Kalinovsky, an infantry officer.
5. Internment Camp No. 300 contains approximately 400 prisoners and is commanded by Major Ivan Markovoi, a Mongoloid type from the Ukraine. The labor overseer at this camp is Captain Ivan Koval.
